JACK THE RIPPER IS UNDER ARREST

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Feb. 27.—The man who during the last fortnight, has been delivering a series of attacks upon women on the streets of Berlin, was captured today. He made an attempt to stab a woman on the Friederich Strasse, one of the crowded shopping streets of the city.

The clothing of his intended victim was cut, but she herself suffered no harm. The woman screamed and her assailant fled into a house on an adjoining street, where he was seized by a policeman. He is a young man, but he has not yet been identified.

Today's attempt was the thirty-sixth "ripper" case since the beginning of the outrages. The description of the assailant does not agree, and it is believed various men have been engaged in the work.

There has been a stage of terror among the women of Berlin, many servants refusing to go on the streets alone after nightfall. The police have had special detectives dressed as women, sauntering through the streets, inviting attack. The assaults have been made by day as well as at night and on the open street, as well as in the halls and stairways of houses.

The assailant would approach his victim quietly, strike at her swiftly with a sharp stiletto, and then escape during the ensuing confusion.

As the result of inquiries concerning the man arrested, the police doubt his identity with the perpetrators of the many assaults.

FIVE ROBBERS ARE CAPTURED BY A FARMER

(By Associated Press.)
MUSKOGEE (Okla.), Feb. 26.—In the San Bois mountains, single-handed and in the dark, James Beck, a farmer residing near Stigler, Oklahoma, early today captured five robbers who had robbed him of $2000, recovered part of the money and then made an attempt to land his gang in jail. Two were wounded, but all escaped.

Sunday morning last, the men broke into Beck's house and escaped with his money. Arming himself with a revolver, the farmer started in pursuit. He trailed the robbers day and night, until at dusk Thursday he saw them enter the San Bois mountains, seventy miles southwest of Muskogee.

He laid in wait until darkness covered the robbers' rendezvous, and when finally the quintet fell asleep Beck approached, yelling, "Hands up!" "Cover them, boys!" Leading the robbers to believe they were surrounded, Beck forced them to return $1600 of his money, all they had left, and attempted to bring them to Muskogee to jail.

Learning that their capture had been effected by one man, the robbers dashed for liberty. They escaped, but not until two of them had been shot and wounded by Beck, how badly is not known. A sheriff's posse today is scouring the mountains for the robbers.

GOLD BAR TAKES OUT THE GOODS

GOLDFIELD, Feb. 27.—Ore is being taken from the 200 and 300-foot levels of the Goldfield Bar property with as much haste as can be expected, and shipments are going to the reduction works daily, by wagon, according to Manager Louis M. Koontz.

"The property could not look better, when you consider that it is just now really being opened up," said Mr. Koontz last evening. "We do not expect to do a great deal of shipping just at this time, since we are engaged in getting the property in shape for fully developing the ore bodies before we pay much attention to what we now have."

"So far as the values are concerned, you can say just what you want to, and you won't be far from the truth. It is a fact that we can secure assays running from away up in the thousands per ton down to an average. But our ore will go, on an average, close to a mark which will put us on the substantial producers' list when we get in proper shape to handle it. We are taking it out of both the 200 and 300-foot levels, the latter being the point where we recently went into some very phenomenal rock. On this vein we have progressed possibly fifty feet, and the values are being maintained uniformly throughout."

The Bonanza has a complete blagery in operation.
